

"Future Jobs: Solving the Employment and Skills Crisis"

Thursday, November 5, 2015

George Washington University, Duques Building, 2201 "G" St - Room 453

Meet & Greet at 6:30 pm / Program at 7:00 – 9:00 pm

The Leadership of the National Capital Chapter of The World Future Society (NATCAPWFS) is Pleased to Announce The First of Our 2015/16 Speaker's Series, Held at George Washington University.

7 Million Jobs Go Unfilled Every Day. That Number Will, Under Conservative Estimates, Double in the Next Six Years to 14 Million. Future Jobs Warns of the Jobs Cliff -- and Reveals a Comprehensive, Proven Solution to Stave Off an Economic Meltdown.

Join Us For A Fascinating Discussion with Dr. Ed Gordon, Founder And President Of Imperial Consulting Corporation

Edward Gordon's latest book, Future Jobs: Solving the Employment and Skills Crisis is a 2015 Independent Publisher Award Winner. Dr. Gordon's new book persuasively documents the global jobs and skills disconnect and shows how businesses, government agencies, schools, and community organizations are forging cross-sector partnerships to successfully address this growing talent mismatch.

Edward E. Gordon, a human capital management expert internationally recognized as an authority on how talent discovery, career planning, and training relate to business and economic development, has consulted with leaders in business, education, government and non-profits for over 40 years. A thought leader connecting the employment dots between business, education, and training, he has helped hundreds of clients, including Fortune 500 companies, state agencies, universities, school systems, non-profit organizations, and trade or professional associations. He is the author or co-author of 18 books and has been quoted in or written over 300 articles for major newspapers such as USA Today, the Wall Street Journal, the New York Times, Washington Post, Boston Globe, and Investor's Business Daily, and popular magazines, business publications, and education journals. As a professional speaker, he has been heard by over 500,000 people, and by millions on television and radio. Dr. Gordon has taught courses in business, psychology, and history for 20 years at DePaul, Loyola, and Northwestern Universities. He has served on the Executive Board of the Chicago Renaissance Manufacturing Council, the Advisory Board of the Coachella Valley Economic Partnership, and the Advisory Board of the Catholic Charities of Chicago, the Board of Directors of the Better Business Bureau of Chicago and Northern Illinois, among many others.

Dr. Gordon holds a Ph.D. in History/Psychology, graduating Magna cum Laude from Loyola University in Chicago, and an M.A. in History, graduating Magna cum Laude from DePaul University in Chicago.
