Embassy Suites Hotel,
Chevy Chase Pavilion, Friendship Heights, Washington, D.C.

Dr. Ervin Laszlo is the world famous founder and head of the Club of Budapest, www.club-of-budapest.com. The club's logo—the chain bridge connecting the merged cities of Buda and Pest—symbolizes its mission of building bridges between generations and cultures. Each year the Club makes a Change the World—Best Practice Award for projects that foster sustainable development and a Planetary Consciousness Award honoring individuals who have been most effective in exhibiting and promoting the universally required new consciousness. This year it will start Planet Life University an institution that will train people in planetary consciousness and best planetary practices.

Dr. Laszlo's latest book, You Can Change the World: The Global Citizen's Handbook for Living on Planet Earth deals with the potential consequences of continuing to live in an environmentally unsustainable way and how we might avoid those consequences. Mikhail Gorbachev says in his foreword, "Read this book. It helps us to understand the current situation of our planet and to find the path we must take. The relationship between man and nature has become more and more complex and strained; the air has become poisoned, the rivers polluted and the forests decimated. Society is beginning to show the symptoms of sickness. YOU CAN CHANGE THE WORLD helps us to determine what we must do and how we must do it to ensure our common well-being. The future that confronts us is an open future and all of us can do our bit to decide it." Dr. Laszlo is the author of many other books including Macroshift: Navigating the Transformation to A Sustainable World.
